Assignment (Covers All): CASE STUDY ANALYSES

Much of contemporary clinical ethics is done through case studies in which a particular scenario is presented and the ethicist then analyses the case, pointing out any relevant factors and ethical features of the case before making a recommendation regarding action.

Students will be presented with many different cases this semester and will be expected to present a sophisticated analyses and recommendation for action based upon different factors.

The student will be presented with 3 cases in particular. The student will then be required to write a 1 ½ - 2 page analysis in which he or she carefully evaluate and recommend a course of action. Thus, this is a written assignment. The writing standards for each of these 3 analyses are high, and it will be expected that students follow a particular format to present their analysis. This format will include the “four boxes” approach, which will be discussed on week 10.
